1956 Supplement to The Catalog.

I am making some changes this year relative to the catalog. Postage and labor is so high that the largest dahlia growers are charging 50¢ for postage and packing on orders under the prepaid amount, and really that is no more than fair, but on the other hand, you hate to have to pay 50¢ extra on one dahlia should you only want one dahlia, so I am compromising and only charging 25¢. I think you will agree that my prices are very low anyhow.

I guarantee everything to reach you in good shape. If it don't, please return immediately for a fair adjustment.

Large dahlia roots that have had the ends cut off in digging will grow new skin over the end and be all the better for being pruned.

Dahlia Collection No. 1:-Ten varieties, my choice, mixed colors, types and styles, mostly large flowering, labeled for only $3.25, post-paid. I will even allow the free dahlia roots as listed in the Bargain Counter in the catalog. This holds good on both collections.

Dahlia Collection No. 2:-Five of my largest and best in class A. all different and labeled for only $2. post-paid. My choice.

List of choice high priced dahlias at very reduced prices. $5. worth post-paid,

The stock of dahlias that I carry have good long stems and hold their heads up for the most part. Some times in a rare beauty of a flower, I will tolerate a drooping head. Some times a brainless person like a head of wheat will hold his head up, but the filled head hangs down. It is rare to get a large cactus dahlia that holds its head up.

Please see abbreviations in the catalog to understand the descriptions as given in this supplement and the catalog.

Primrose- Alpine Aconites. Fragrant, velvety blooms in shades purple, violet, lavender, blue, red, yellow, leather and brown pastel tints.

Strawberries- Winchester Everbearing. This is a new creation of mine. Better than the Red Rich or Rockhill, I think. The plants are large and very runnerless. The size of berry is very large and the yield is enormous. The flavor is that of the Marshall. They are a very firm berry and ideal for freezing or processing. As they make large plants and bear good the first year, they should be lifted and divided each Spring for best results. Soil should be spaded up anew. 12 for $1.30; 25 for $2.50; 50 for $4.75; $9 a 100, Post-paid
